in Nagoya, Japan (Midland Hall)

The 14th Asia-Pacific Software Engineering Conference (APSEC 2007) with the theme "Software Engineering Innovation Everywhere" will be held in the Nagoya Midland Hall on Dec. 5-7, 2007. Many researchers and practitioners from the software engineering field in the Asia-Pacific region will attend to exchange information about cutting-edge research and technical improvement.

The APSEC 2007 exhibition is planned for R&D organizations related to software vendors, service providers, and software developers. Since APSEC is a leading conference in the software engineering field in the Asia-Pacific region, this exhibition is the best opportunity for software R&D organizations to promote their activities and products such as software development tools.
